Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 28 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain and snow for Scotland and northern England today.

Today:
Cloudy with rain and hill snow for much of Scotland and northern England today. Most other regions seeing some early rain before becoming drier later. Rain then returns to Northern Ireland, Wales and southwest England later. Mild in the south.

Tonight:
Most of Scotland cloudy with rain and hill snow. Elsewhere, evening rain will be followed by clear spells and showers, some heavy in the southwest. Becoming windy in the south.

Friday:
Early cloud, rain and hill snow in the north giving way to colder, brighter weather and wintry showers. Elsewhere, showers and some early bright spells before turning cloudier later. Breezy.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Rain in the south with some snow. Brighter to the north with wintry showers. Cold, with a sharp overnight frost for many. Windy in the far south at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.